Delegation of Sidney and North Saanich Residents Interview Minister of Public Works; East Saanich Road to Be Repaired

Although the Minister of Public Works, Hon. J. H. King, quite understood the necessity of continuing the pavement of the East Saanich Road to Sidney, he was unable, he said, to grant the request on account of the finances at the present time. He promised, however, that the paving of the road from Breed's Cross Road through the Humber property to the rising ground would be taken under consideration.

This is practically the total result of the visit of the delegation to the Minister of Public Works last Tuesday, when a number of Sidney and North Saanich business men and farmers interviewed the Minister in the hope that the government could see its way clear to finish the paving of the East Saanich Road to Sidney, in view of the fact that the roads at present, due to the heavy loads being carried on them, have become very bad. Hon. Mr. King promised that the roads would be put in good shape just as soon as possible, but that the question of completing the paving at this time was out of the question.

The delegation sought to impress upon the Minister the fact that the government would, in the long run, save thousands of dollars by completing the paving now, as the cost of repairing the road, and the fact that the paving plant was on the ground, meant that in the first place the cost of repairing the road would be saved, and in the second place money would be saved because the plant would not have to be brought in again.

Another reason advanced by the Minister why the pavement could not be continued was that there would be delay in calling for tenders, and by the time final arrangements were made the rainy season would be on and the work would have to be postponed until a later date.

In reply to one of the speakers Hon. Mr. King admitted that it was the policy of the government to pave the highway to Sidney, but at the present time it could not be done.

Mr. M. B. Jackson, K.C., M.P.P., for the Islands, introduced the delegation to Hon. Mr. King, and Mr. W. H. Dawes, secretary of the Sidney Board of Trade, introduced the members of the delegation individually to the Minister.

Those who made up the delegation were: Messrs. C. C. Cochran, D. Harvey, G. F. Pownall, F. J. Simister, J. Livingston, G. Henderson, N. Le Gallais, R. M. Macaulay, W. O'Hphant, W. H. Dawes, W. Stacey, J. Jenner, S. Roberts, Rev. T. Griffiths, J. T. Taylor and J. Duff.

FLOWER SHOW POSTPONED.

Owing to the inclement weather the flower show, which was to have taken place yesterday afternoon at the Cressley grounds, under the auspices of the North Saanich Women's Institute, had to be postponed until next Saturday, Aug. 20.

REPORT ON COST OF STAPLES

Report on Prices for the Month of June, Show Downward Trend.

The movement of prices, says the Labor Gazette for the month of July, continued downward, but as in May was not so pronounced as during the latter part of 1920 and the early part of 1919. In retail prices of food, however, the decrease was steep, due chiefly to a drop of 20 cents per pound in butter, though meats, eggs, cheese and nearly all the items were slightly lower.

In retail prices of foods the average cost of a weekly family budget in sixty cities at the first of June was $11.16, as compared with $12.75 for May, $16.97 for June 1920, $13.72 for June 1919, $12.77 for June 1918, and $4.45 for June 1914. One half of the decrease of $1.59 in foods was in butter, the cost of which on three pounds fell 20 cents. Eggs were down 3 cents per dozen and cheese between 1 and 2 cents per pound. There were slight decreases in meat, but all the other items, beef, being down one half cent per pound, and the other five meats 1 cent per pound. All pork and bacon 1 cent per pound. Coal and coal oil were slightly higher, but items averaged were considerably lower than a year ago, especially butter and potatoes. Fuel and coal, however, were higher.

Fire at Saturna Last Thursday

House Occupied by Mr. and Mrs. A. Crane and Family Entirely Destroyed; Contents of Building Saved

(Review Correspondent.)

SATURNA ISLAND, Aug. 16.—The extremely hot weather which we have been enduring this last week, has practically reduced the inhabitants of this district to melting point, and most of them have discovered that the only way to keep the least bit cool is to spend two or three hours every day in the briny ocean. They were very grateful for a fresh southerly gale which blew up last evening, and cooled things off a little.

On Sunday last service was held in the school house in the middle of the island, and a small congregation toiled over the hot and dusty road to attend it.

Mr. Lane, of Cowichan Bay, on board the yacht "Sokum," and accompanied by Mr. Walter Chambers, of Victoria, were visitors at Boot Bay last week.

Mrs. Peter Georgeson returned home on Wednesday last on the Island Princess.

Mrs. Johnson is the guest of her brother, Mr. Arthur Dakers, for a short holiday.

Mrs. W. Deffy returned on Wednesday after spending a few days in Victoria.

Mr. F. J. Pratt, on board his yacht "Saturna," spent a short time in Boot Bay last Thursday. He left for Victoria on Friday, accompanied by Mr. G. Payne. They are expected to return shortly.

Mrs. H. D. Payne, with her little daughter, Barbara, left on Saturday to spend a few days on Mayne Island.

Miss Theo Paddon, Miss Constance MacMullen, and Mr. Frank Paddon spent a few days last week camping on the island.

Miss Phyllis Bellhouse has returned to her home on Galiano.

Major and Mrs. W. Pender have returned to the island, and are living in Mrs. H. Page's house.

Miss Barton, the principal of St. Margaret's school, with her sister, Miss Fanny Barton, are spending a short holiday at Port Washington.

Mr. H. Newton is slowly recovering from a severe fall, by which he sustained a bad injury to his leg. Having previously hurt his hand by cutting it with an axe, he was unable to save himself when he fell, and was therefore rather badly hurt. Dr. Sutherland was summoned, and we are glad to learn that he is now able to move around.

Miss E. Sarbuck, of Saturna, who has been berry-picking at Dewdney, during the last month, has gone to spend the rest of her holidays at Alki Point, Seattle.

Mr. Arthur Crane's house, at Camp Bay, South Pender, is nearing completion. All hands from the Saturna sawmill have been employed in its construction.

On Thursday last a serious fire occurred in the valley on South Pender. A small house, owned by Mr. Inglis, of Salt Spring, and at the time by Mr. A. Crane and his family, was burned to the ground. At the commencement of the fire the house was empty and the fires out, but it is believed to have been started by a spark smouldering in the chimney.

The fire was seen from a distance by Mr. A. Spalding, Mr. H. Spalding and Mr. Richardson, who immediately rushed to the spot, and by clever and quick work managed to rescue most of the furniture, clothes and other valuables in the house. Some trunks stowed in the woodshed, and also five cases of dynamite were in considerable danger for a time, but these were also rescued successfully. The fire spread a little into the woods, but was finally stopped and soon burnt itself out. Great credit is due to the prompt action of the three who were first upon the scene of action. Mr. A. Crane and his family have now taken up their abode in a small house belonging to Major W. Pender until their new house at Camp Bay is completed.

Mr. T. L. Higgs returned from Vancouver on Thursday last. He left on Saturday, accompanied by some members of his family, and spent the day in Victoria, returning the same evening. Mr. W. Higgs is still progressing favorably, and expects to leave the hospital next week.

Mr. Georgeson Received Many Congratulations Last Sunday, Aug. 14

(Review Correspondent.)
MAYNE ISLAND, Aug. 16.—On Sunday last our esteemed neighbor, Mr. Georgeson, celebrated his 86th birthday. About 6 p.m. Mr. Emery's motor car came up to the light-house with a big load of well wishers to congratulate Mr. Georgeson, who is a very good advertisement of longevity of British Columbians. On the previous evening he entertained a few of his old friends.

Our school master and wife left today. They have made many friends during their short stay on Mayne Island.

One of the best dances of the season occurred last Saturday night at the Hall, it being well attended by the summer visitors on the island.

Mrs. Harold Payne and Barbara have been spending the week end at Point Comfort.

Capt. Thomas Higgs was a visitor at Mayne this week.

While we are enjoying cool breezes from the Gulf of Georgia we hear Vancouver and Victoria citizens are suffering from the heat, and many fires are occurring these days.

Capt. and Mrs. and Miss Mary Scopes paid a visit to Mayne this week.

Mr. Luper, of the Imperial Oil Co., paid a visit to Mayne and Galiano this week.

Miss Updegraff spent a most enjoyable day in Victoria last Saturday.

HISTORY OF GALIANO ISLAND

By M. Ida New

All Rights Reserved

For the first mile or two the coast-bats line on this side is steep and rocky. Retreat Cove is a sheltered bay a mile or so beyond Walker Rock, useful as an anchorage for small craft known as Montague Harbor, and believed by many a modern yachtsman as well as the storm-driven tug-boats crew.

Rounding Phillimore Point, with the little island of Julia on the sea side, you pass through the narrow arm that leads into the bay. This point was so named by Capt. Richards of the "Plumper" (1859), after Lieut. Henry Boucher Phillimore, of H. M. S. "Ganges." Montague Harbor was named in memory of James Montague, captain of H. M. S. "Montagu," who was killed in action in 1794.

This harbor is so snugly tucked away behind Parker Island, with steep bluffs rising from the water two or three hundred sheer feet on the Galiano shore that it forms a veritable haven of refuge. With a general depth of six fathoms and good holding ground, Montague Harbor has long been considered a useful anchorage.

Parker Island, it may be mentioned here, was also named by Capt. Richards, after Lieut. George Ferdinand Hastings Parker, of H. M. S. "Ganges," who was on this station at the time of the survey.

Having left Montague Harbor the coastline continues steep and rugged, with broken boulders on the narrow strip of beach here and there, but in regular outline without bay or inlet. Several small islands follow above Parker, these being named Sphinx, Charles, Wyse and Twin Islands. Capt. Parry, who was engaged in re-surveying the islands on board the "Egeria" (1904-5) changed the name of Twin to Ballingall Islets, in memory of Alexander C. Ballingall, R.N.

Further on, lying only two-thirds of a mile from the Galiano shore, is Walker Rock, on which a light was placed in 1900, though for thirty-five years it was only marked by a beacon of stone eight feet high, surmounted by an eighteen foot staff and a cross. This rock was named after Edward Walker, one of the earliest residents of Nanaimo, who informed Capt. Richards of its existence. (1859).

We are now opposite the central point of the island, where Quadra Hill rises to a height of 750 ft. Capt. Richards named this hill in memory of the famous Spanish explorer, who was governor of Nootka at the time of the discoveries of Galiano and Valdes.

Close to Montague Harbor a well-hidden cave has long since been discovered under the bluffs, being accessible from shore only at low tide, but easily reached by boat. Though both entrances are low and narrow the cave opens out into a lofty and spacious hiding place inside, and it was used as such by a party of Indians in the old days. From a natural window one can obtain a good view of the outer world. This cave is now occupied by large numbers of

WITH THE COWBOYS IN TEXAS

By a Roamer

I Visit My Uncle.

Having the misfortune to lose my father at the early age of fourteen, I was sent to my uncle, a Mr. Cooper, then owner of the Panhandle Ranch in Southern Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper, having lost their only child, a son, who had been killed while in the act of riding a spirited range horse, he being twenty years of age when he met his death, made me promise to stay with them until I was twenty-one years of age.

I never felt better in my life than I did while on my uncle's ranch, and as I look back over the long years that have passed since then I confess that those were the happiest years of my life. Perhaps it is partly on account of them being the care free days of my youth.

With the Cowboys.

Needless to say, having a great liking for an open air life, full of excitement and change, and a fondness for horses, I soon became a good man in the saddle. In those days every cowboy was a finished rider and horse-breaker. Nowadays there are men who make a regular business of "broncho-busting," going from one outfit to another in the spring of the year, and breaking in the range horses for use, but in the days of which I am writing every cowboy had to train his own horses. Each spring so many gentle and so many wild "bronks" were issued to him, and he was expected to ride every horse the first time he mounted it. If he was thrown, he rose from the ground out of a job. His wages ceased from that moment, anger there was, and plenty of it, for cowboys were often run over by the stampeding steers and killed.

On the Trail.

I sigh when I think that it can never be my good fortune to experience again the joys of being on the trail. For such days are no more. The world has never seen more wonderful horsemanship than that of the Texas trail.

Night herding was one of the dreariest duties of the drive. Travel ceased at night, and three cowboys had to be constantly on duty, guarding the cattle to prevent them from stampeding. The men were divided into two shifts, each shift working half the night. Their duty was to ride round and round the herd all night. According to orders, two men rode one way and two in the opposite direction. In this manner each party "kept cases" on the other, and if one came in without having met the other, it was inferred that the latter party was shirking its duty in some way. Every moment they rode they kept up some noise, either singing, whistling or talking. As long as the cattle heard a man's voice they felt safe. The moment it stopped there was danger of a stampede. That's the way I lost my voice—singing cattle to sleep all night.

In the Cow Country.

The orders were that no man should dismount from his horse within a hundred yards of the herd. For a horse invariably shakes himself when a rider dismounts. The shake of the saddle was enough to cause a stampede among the cattle. The horses were always hobbled at a considerable distance from the herd and were left in charge of the night wrangler. One night when our outfit was camped on Blanket Creek in Texas, the wrangler came into camp with the report that Indians had run off most of the horses. It was necessary to wait for daylight to find the trail of the thieves. This done, six cowboys started in pursuit, leaving the necessary guards for the herd. The country of which I write was timbered, interspersed with little glades and prairie-like parks. They followed the Indians' trail until nightfall, and after dark saw the light of a campfire. They lipped up in the darkness to make sure that they had found the thieves. Satisfied on this point, they waited until break of day, and then crept to within fifty yards of the Indian camp. Two of the cowboys went to where the horses were hobbled, leaving two cowboys to handle a sprang up from their sleep, the attacking party began to shoot, killing three of the thieves and scattering the rest. Whereupon the herdsmen, taking the Indians' ponies along with their own, returned to where the outfit was camped on Blanket Creek.

Could Not Sleep

Mr. Earnest Clark, Police Officer, 338 King St., Kingston, Ont., writes:

"For three years I suffered from nervousness and sleeplessness. I believe my condition was brought about by overwork. I had frequent headaches, neuralgic pains and twitching of nerves and muscles. I had indigestion, was short of breath and easily tired. I commenced a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and seven boxes of this medicine relieved me of all my symptoms. I am now feeling one hundred per cent. better than I was, and have to thank Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for the good health I am now enjoying."

STUFFED TOMATOES.

Wash six fine ripe tomatoes and take out the tough stem end. Put in the ice box and chill. An hour before meal time, scoop out the inside of the tomato. Dice up the pulp and mix with 1 diced onion, 1 diced pepper, 1 cupful mixed vegetables diced. These may be string or wax beans, carrots, peas or any other vegetable that is on hand—cucumber, too, is fine. Mix with one-half cupful cooked salad dressing or one-quarter cupful French dressing. With a spoon put the salad mixture back in the tomatoes. Put in the ice till ready to serve. Arrange a bed of lettuce, or, if preferred, one good sized, perfect leaf of lettuce and place the stuffed tomato in the centre of the leaf. Serve at once with a salt or cheese wafer.

WORTH REMEMBERING

When trimming underclothes with embroidery stitch along the edge of the scallop. This will wear as long as the muslin and not look ragged.

When you want safety pins always at hand pin one of each size to the edge of a hanging pin cushion, and chain each size, having four or five in each chain. After using a safety pin don't lay it down, but chain it in its place and it will save time.

A good furniture polish is made of one part turpentine to three parts linseed oil. Do not use a large quantity. A small amount thoroughly rubbed in with a woolen cloth and then polished with a dry cloth till the oil is absorbed or removed will give the best results.

To prevent the edges of a rug curling up overcast it with strong twine and pull tight until the sides lie flat.

The frosting for the top of a cake should be considerably stiffer than that used for icing and filling for the inside layers.

Raw bananas are more easily digested if, after peeling, the pulp is scraped just enough to remove the "fuzz."

You can give meat a delicious nutty flavor by rolling it before frying in rolled toasted cornflakes instead of flour.

An unthreaded sewing machine makes a good substitute for a tracing wheel in making paper patterns.

If your furniture is scratched, make a fine paste of linseed oil and a little powdered pumice stone and rub on the damaged surface with a soft cloth.

Vinegar heated to boiling point will soften the brush in which paint has been allowed to dry. Let the brush simmer in the vinegar a few minutes, then wash in strong soap suds.

Use a paint brush of good size to get dust out of crevices in baseboards, window sashes, etc.

To clean pudding pans put the little ones in the big ones, turn upside down in the dishpan and set on the stove to steam. They will clean in ten minutes.

To wash white silk, take lukewarm water, make it quite blue and to each quart add two teaspoons of pure ammonia. Use a good white soap, rinse in water prepared the same way, roll up, iron on wrong side with an iron not too hot. This will make silk look like new, and it does not yellow in the process.

MANY OTHERS

We see a rich young American who is to marry a European princess is going to take his wife's name, and to avoid the expense of buying new one we can name quite a few other men who might just as well have taken their wife's name, too.

COLD WATER BEST CLEANSER.

Here are a few pointers on washing your car. When new, do not use anything but clean, cold water. After a number of washings, water of a moderate temperature, about 70 degrees, may be used. Do not rub the body or apply a strong stream of water to remove mud—loosen it with a strong stream. Rubbing away mud scratches the finish, while a strong flow of water will force the grit into the finish. Do not wash the hood while warm, as it dulls the surface. When grit and mud are removed, wipe the body with a soft sponge and dry with chamols. If tar and mud are allowed to remain on the car until hard and dry their removal will be difficult. If polish is used, it should be of a kind which will rub down clean and smooth, without leaving a greasy or oily surface, and which will not injure the paint or varnish, even though they are not rubbed right after being applied.

TRIED RECIPES

PEARL TAPIOCA—A peach dessert is made by cooking four tablespoons of granulated tapioca in four cups of boiling water thirty minutes or until clear; add four tablespoons of sugar and one teaspoon of salt. Mix two cups of crushed peaches with one tablespoon of orange juice and place in the bottom of a buttered baking dish; pour over the tapioca and set in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. Serve with orange custard.

CHERRY SALAD—A very good cherry salad is made with one cup each of pitted white and black cherries. In the hole left after removing the pits a small piece of blanched almond is placed, the cherries are mixed with a lemon French dressing and served in white lettuce cups and garnished with whipped sour cream.

FIRELESS CANDY—Put through the meat chopper two cups of cold boiled rice, two cups of seeded raisins, and half a cup of coconut meat. Mix to a stiff paste with half a teaspoon of salt and some lemon juice. Take half a teaspoon of this mixture and roll in grated coconut and XXXX sugar. Set aside to dry and keep in a cool dry place.

SUGARLESS CANDY—Place through the meat chopper one cup of seeded dates, one cup of steamed dry figs, one cup of seeded raisins and one cup of walnut meats; use the fine knife on the meat chopper. Place the mixture in a bowl and work to a smooth paste with the grated rind of one orange, one tablespoon of lemon juice, and two tablespoons of orange juice. Smooth out on a board and cut in square pieces and let stand for four hours.

CORN OYSTERS WITH BACON CURLS—Mix one can of corn which has cooked gently fifteen or twenty minutes with one and three-quarters teaspoons salt, a dash of paprika, two tablespoons milk, three-quarters cup fine bread or cracker crumbs and one well-beaten egg. Drop by spoonfuls on a hot frying pan which has been well greased with bacon fat. Brown on one side, then turn and brown delicately on the other. Serve with bacon curls and garnish with parsley.

MOTHER'S JOHNNY CAKE—One-half cup molasses, two tablespoons melted butter, one egg, one cup sour milk, one level teaspoon soda, one and one-half cups cornmeal, scant three-quarters cup unsifted flour, one half teaspoon baking powder. Mix molasses and butter, add egg, add sour milk with soda dissolved in it. Then add other ingredients. Makes one pan Johnny cake.

DANDY PUDDING—One quart milk, four tablespoons cornstarch, one half cup sugar, three eggs. Make custard of milk, eggs, yolks, sugar and cornstarch. Flavor with lemon and pour into individual glasses. Make a meringue of egg whites and cover the top of each glass.

SHORTCAKE—Two cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one egg, one tablespoon butter, two table spoons sugar, sweet milk to make a batter, same as for cakes. This recipe makes a two-layer cake. Split the cakes, slice peaches and sweeten to taste.

Satisfaction GuaranteedWhat About the Future of Animals

The question is often asked: "What about a hereafter for animals?" The only answer is to say that whatever we may think, we know nothing. Even our own future is wrapped about with so much mystery that our hope of it is a matter of faith. It does not admit of an unanswerable demonstration. Humanity seems to have clunk to a belief in immortality from the earliest days of which we have record. The world's wisest and best have gone their way facing the darkness at the close of life's day with this hope more or less brightly burning, like a lamp with which they trusted to find the threshhold of a house not made with hands.

Not a few whose names have been written high on the scroll of fame, men like Butler and Agassiz, men of fine intellectual power and unswept by sentiment, have found nothing in philosophy or science to prevent their belief in a future for the animal as well as for us. Conscious of the limitations of our knowledge we still say that if love, fidelity, devotion, pertain to that in the human life which cannot die, why should we doubt its persistence wherever we meet it? And then, unless there be some future where the unmeasured sufferings of the animal world should find compensation for the undeserved evils under which they, innocent of wrong, have lived out their too often sad and tortured lives, does not the eternal justice stand impeached at the judgment seat of humanity's noblest sense of right?—Exchange.

EUROPEAN FUR BUYERS IN MARKET NOW.

Says the Market Examiner, Calgary: European fur buyers are getting stocks on this side of the water now, and there has been quite a movement from the larger centres, which has caused quite a demand, particularly for the long haired furs, such as coyote, wolf and fox.
Manufacturers are also taking a little out of the dealers' stocks, and on the whole everything is moving quite satisfactorily.

Fashion forecasts for the coming season are that skunk, possum, beaver, fitch and Hudson seal are going to be the most popular furs.

Dealers are getting very little in now, and no trouble is experienced in keeping stocks cleared up.

FIVE CARS OF WOOL SHIPPED EAST.

Calgary district wool is now being forwarded to Calgary and loaded in cars for shipment east, the shipments being handled as usual for the association at Victoria park, Calgary, under the charge of E. L. Richardson, secretary.

So far five cars have been forwarded, and additional supplies are coming in regularly, and as soon as loaded will be forwarded to the east for grading and sale.

POOR BILL.

"Did you hear that Bill was dead?"

"No. What did he die of?"

"Oh, he had lumbago. They rubbed his back with alcohol and he broke his neck trying to lick it off."

TURKEYS, DUCKS AND GESE.

Never catch a duck or goose by the leg, or you may break it. Always grasp them by the neck.

It is a good plan to feed the old turkeys principally on wheat and oats during the summer and early fall.

Cracked corn and wheat will make the young poult grow as well as anything, if they are on free range, as they should be.

A low, swampy place makes a good range and natural feeding ground for ducks and geese at this time of the year.

If identifying bands are placed on the shanks of growing turkeys, they should be watched and let out frequently or they may become so tight as to injure the specimen.

There is no profit in killing poult for market when they are small, although sometimes there is a demand for them when from three to five pounds in weight.

The geese, both old and young, will pick up a large part of their living in the fields, if allowed free range, but they should always have enough grain at night to send them to bed with their appetites satisfied.

It never pays to ship ducks to market alive, because they lose so much weight on the road. Sometimes a well fleshed and fattened young duck will lose two pounds in going a short distance and being constantly frightened.
When they are marketed in warm weather they should be killed, dressed and packed in ice for shipment.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE BABY SHOW.

Editor of Sidney Review.

Dear Sir, Writing in reply to Dr. Beale's letter published last week in The Review, I may say that every precaution will be taken to prevent the awful results
he so clearly depicts as possible.

On reading his letter I immediately tried to get in touch with Hon. Dr. Young, Provincial Health Officer, but unfortunately Dr. Young was away on his holidays, so I rang up Dr. Price, City Health Officer, who has a large experience of baby shows, and he said in reply to my question that a baby show was an excellent thing if it was properly managed, and he would recommend us to have a trained nurse to examine the children before they entered the room for judging. He said that since the last I. O. D. E. baby show held in Victoria, that he had had a large number of parents go to his office, and a number who could not go to his office wrote letters to thank him for the good advice and teaching they had received at the show.

Acting on Dr. Price's advice, our committee has made arrangements with Mrs. Lesage, who is a qualified nurse, to be on the grounds and take charge of the children and who, along with Dr. Manning, will take all precautions to safeguard the children. So, mothers, do not have any fear, but bring your babies to the Baby Show, which will be held in connection with the Flower Show on Saturday instead of Wednesday, on account of the rain.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the valuable space in your paper, I remain,

Yours faithfully,

BERTHA M. DEACON,

Pres. N. S. W. I.

P.S.—Mr. Lesage and the Sidney Trading Co. are kindly donating two first prizes for the Babies.

LIME IN AGRICULTURE.

The use of lime in proper quantity, in proper quality,
and at the proper time will prove beneficial to most soils.
Used otherwise, its effects are the reverse. That there may be no lack of knowledge on the subject, there has been issued by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa
a revised edition of a bulletin entitled "Lime in Agriculture," in which the Dominion Chemist, Dr. F. T. Shutt, has dealt comprehensively with the subject. From this bulletin it is learned that there are several classes of lime, such as quick lime, burnt lime, caustic lime, stone lime, etc., also that limestone of excellent quality is to be found in many parts of Canada, especially in the east and at some points in British Columbia. Some exists in Manitoba in the vicinity of Lakes Winnipeg and Winni-pegoosis. Otherwise, there is none available on the prairies. What is known as lime kiln refuse is sometimes sold as "Agricultural Lime," but the advice is tendered that purchases should be made only on analysis
as to the percentages of quicklime, carbonate of lime, etc., present. The chief objects of the application of lime, or carbonate of lime, are the neutralization of sourness and the improvement of the mechanical condition of soils. The characteristic of the soils that should be treated are pointed out and the influence of lime explained. The comparative values of the different kinds are set forth as well as the methods of application. Attention is given to the use and misuse of lime and results from detailed experiments. A table shows the composition of limestone found in fourteen places in New Brunswick, nine in Quebec, six in British Columbia, nine in Nova Scotia and ten in Ontario. Prince Edward Island is also shown to have deposits.

TESTING CANADIAN WOODS.

The announcement has recently been made that the Board of Works for the United Kingdom has added certain Canadian timbers to the list of those used by the department. That the qualities of Canadian woods might be understood and the timbers thereby put to the best possible use was the object of the Minister of the Interior, Canada, in establishing the Forest Products
Laboratories in connection with the Forestry Branch.
The laboratories are making mechanical and physical tests of Canadian woods and the results are published from time to time as the investigation of each species or group is completed. The information obtained is proving of great value not only to timber users in Great Britain and other countries, but also to Canadian engineers, architects and builders. Beginning with the more important species the investigation is to proceed until all woods having any commercial value are tested. Bulletins 59 and 60, the two so far issued on this subject, may be had free upon application to the Director of Forestry, Ottawa.

AIRPLANES IN FOREST PROTECTION.

By a co-operative arrangement between the Air Board of Canada and the Dominion and provincial forest services, airplanes are being tested this season in five provinces in the work of forest surveying and forest protection. The provinces in which airplanes are operating are Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, Alberta and British Columbia. The use of machines of different types, tested under different conditions, will by the end of this season have accumulated a mass of information in regard to the use of airplanes for this work. The officers of the Air Board, the Dominion Forestry Branch, and the different provincial forestry departments are following the progress of this co-operative operations with close interest and will be guided by them in laying out future work.

HELD A "KITCHEN SHOWER"

Given in Honor of Mrs. D. Bellhouse
at the Home of Mrs. Harford, Galliano Island

(Review Correspondent.)

GALLIANO ISLAND, Aug. 16.—On Tuesday, Aug. 9, a "Kitchen Shower" was given by the ladies of Galliano at the home of Mrs. Harford in honor of Mrs. David Bellhouse (nee Miss Florence Gilmour). The following ladies were present: Mrs. Harford,
Mrs. W. Bellhouse, Mrs. Gilmour,
Miss K. Bellhouse, Mrs. Allan, Mrs.
Murcheson, Mrs. John Page, Mrs.
Thomas, Mrs. Twiss, Mrs. Yorke,
Mrs. Twiss, Miss V. B. Maude, Miss Nesta Steward, Miss Claire Rose and others. Mrs. David Bellhouse took her place on the "throne" which had been tastefully decorated, and confetti was showered upon her, Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" being played. Materials were then provided, and each guest made a duster
for the bride, working their respective initials on the finished article.
Each member of the party was asked to write a suitable greeting on a card, and afterwards to write a few words of advice on "How to bring up a husband." This task was the cause of much merriment. Little Miss Joy Harford came on the scene wheeling a go-cart filled with useful presents and decorated with flowers.
Light refreshments were daintily served, and a happy evening was brought to a close.

There have been many visitors on Galliano during the week.

Miss Woodward, of Burnaby, has been spending a week with her sister, Mrs. Zala.

Mrs. McKenzie and her little daughter, from Winnipeg, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. Patience.

Mrs. John Page and family returned to Victoria on Saturday, as also did Miss Claire Rose and Col. Flick, who have been staying with Mr. and Mrs. P. Steward in the Valley.

Mrs. Flick, her two daughters and son, returned to Oak Bay on Tuesday.

Mr. Hope has returned to Vancouver after his holiday here.

Mr. D. A. New is spending this week in Vancouver on a business trip and will take in the Agricultural Show while there.

Master Thomas Alcock, of Royal Oak, is spending part of his holidays in the Valley, before returning to the Victoria High School.

Mrs. Allan is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Harford.

Miss Johnson is also visiting. The Island, being the guest of Mrs. Elver-son.

Mr. Buckenfield, of Vernon, &

Buckenfield, Sidney and Vancouver, visited the Island for a short time on Saturday, proceeding to Mayne Island.

On Monday the two Miss Gavins returned to Burnaby, and Miss Elizabeth York left for Vancouver on a two weeks' visit to her aunt, Mrs.
Flett.

A logging camp in charge of Mr.
Hatch is situated on Mr. Egan's property in Montague Harbor, the crew being engaged in getting out fir and cedar. The old house, formerly owned by Mrs. Morgan, of Echo Island, is fitted up as a bunkhouse. The cook house is a houseboat. A chute has been erected, and the scene is a busy one. Water for the donkey is a problem, as the supply in the creek is hardly adequate, and it will probably be necessary to scow water over from Ganges.

Members of the Tennis Club much enjoy their afternoons on the Point Comfort court on Mayne Island.
Several combined picnics have been arranged during the week, a popular resort being in Cayzer Bay, near the natural swimming bath. Bathing is particularly attractive along this part of the coast, and the view of the open Gulf northward and eastward is specially beautiful. Mount Baker shows to great advantage on a clear day. The natural swimming pool, made by an unusual formation of rocks, holds the water after the tide goes down, and in a short time it reaches the temperature of an artificially heated swimming tank.
Junior members of the party enjoy themselves for hours in this pool, the length of which is about thirty yards, the depth not exceeding 3 ft.
6 in. This week a picnic has been arranged by Canon and Mrs. Paddon to be held in Cayzer Bay, the party including both Mayne and Galliano residents and visitors.

Messrs. F. and J. Burrill held an enjoyable party on Monday evening.

A representative of a Fort Norman company spent a few days on the Island last week, and visited Resolute Cove.

BETWEEN FRIENDS.

Mrs. Newbride: "When you found that you couldn't accept the invitation to our wedding, why did you not send your regrets?"

Miss Ryval: "Oh, I thought you would have enough of your own pretty soon, dear."

A TAME SEAL.

As you know, seals like to lie basking in the warm sunshine. You will not be surprised to hear that tame seals are fond of lying in front of an open fire, just like cats. A Scotch fisherman once had a tame seal, which he fed on milk and fish. But as it grew big he found this too expensive, for he was a poor man. So one day he took the seal out in a boat and dropped it overboard, thinking that it would be happy in the water. The poor little seal began to cry with the cold, and swam after him, crying so piteously that he took it home again. After that, poor as the fisherman was, he fed his pet every day all through the winter, and when summer came and the water was not so cold, he took it out and taught it to catch fish for itself.

THE APE AND THE LOOKING GLASS

An ugly ape, who lived at ease Upon the very best,
Who really was no good at all— And everybody's pest.
His mistress was the only one Who thought him quite a pet.
So let him stuff and cram his pouch With all that he could get.
He heard himself a beauty called, And pretty doves, too,
Until the ugly brute believed That it was really true.
One day, in sport, he broke his chain Or like a shot went he,
Upsetting this, and tearing that, As happy as could be.
At last he came before a glass, And saw his ugly face;
He jumped and chattered, showed his teeth,
With many an odd grimace.
"What brute," thought he, "have we got here,
Who dares to mock me thus,
A horrid, long-eared, hairy thing,
A perfect incubus!"
Then what a foot and what a hand, And what an ugly nose,
And what a precious ill-formed tail, And what a length it grows!
With that he laughed, as apes all laugh,
The sad, conceited elf,
Without a moment thinking That he'd really seen himself!

Invention Extraordinary

A Winnipeg man has invented a machine to assist in the eating of corn on the cob, and as the season is timely we are glad to come forward with the details. The device consists of a horizontal bar about ten inches long with a small wheel at each end attached to which is a fine nail on the inside and a knob on the outside of a size to be grasped conveniently between the index finger and the thumb. The wheels are attached to a coil spring. The ear of the corn is laid along the bar and the wheels closed in on it, the nails being inserted in the ends of the cob. The springs make it possible to handle a short ear about five inches long, like you get from the garden, or an ear ten inches long like you get from your own garden. Once the cob has been firmly located, the human being (if it would be a human being that would go to all this trouble to eat a cob of corn) takes a knob in either hand and the prepares to go to it.

First, however, he winds up an ingenious device attached to one of the wheels. This, when released, causes the cob to rotate slowly; as quickly as two rows of the corn have been cleaned up, the cob has moved around and brought up two fresh rows to work back on, thereby saving any delay in time. The bar has a flanged device to keep the too eager from rubbing his or her nose along the corn. This is as far as the inventor has got to date, but he is working on another attachment which will squirt soft butter along the cob just ahead of the teeth in much the same manner as a grape fruit squirts juice into your breakfast table eye.

Every time we breathe we draw thirty cubic inches of air into our lungs, supposing that we take fifteen breaths a minute for the twenty-four hours of the day, we use no less than 648,000 cubic inches of air, which would weigh over thirty pounds. One day's supply of air for one human being would be sufficient to fill 1,125 two-gallon cans; a year's supply would weigh more than five tons. From these figures it may be seen how necessary it is to keep windows open so that there may be a continuous supply of fresh air.

I don't believe in the survival of anybody. I'm an undertaker.

Heligoland Not Wanted

During the war the cession of Heligoland to Germany in exchange for African concessions was the subject of much dispute. By some enthusiasts it was contended that possession of Heligoland would have enabled the British navy to command the mouth of the Elbe and the Rhine, and to bottle up the German fleet in or behind the Kiel canal. In German hands it was strongly fortified, and used as a base from which submarines controlled the whole bight, and raids from it across the North Sea were frequent. The German newspapers have recently been asserting that Britain sought to gain Heligoland again, but the London foreign office denies the report. It regards the island more of a liability than an asset, under modern conditions of warfare. If the British government had wanted Heligoland, it could have obtained it by inserting a provision to that effect in the Versailles treaty. But the use of monster guns capable of throwing great shells a hundred miles, as proved by the bombardment of Paris from heights near the Ardennes, would make effective occupation of Heligoland now almost impossible. If Germany were conducting a war against British occupation of Heligoland, guns on the mainland could, months in and months out, drop great shells on it. The submarine is the greater argument against it. The several hundred miles of open water in the North Sea between Heligoland and the British ports cannot well be closed entirely by mines, and enemy ships would have open targets in the communication ships passing back to close to the German coast. Indeed, a large garrison and great battery equipment would be constantly under heavy risk of being surrounded, if mine conditions kept British warships out of the Bight. Fortunately, with Germany reduced to naval impotence, Heligoland becomes merely waste rock, and need not occasion anyone much concern.

Perhaps if the citizens of today had been on the earth in the year 1816, especially in the summer of that period he would not be so easily over a sudden rise in temperature. It has been revealed in a diary that the summer of 1816 was one of "ice and desolation."

In June of that year, says the diary, ice a half inch thick formed on the streams in Ontario county (New York state) and snow to a depth of three inches was recorded. The crops were destroyed and the people wore heavy winter clothing. In the home grates and old iron stoves brightly burned the 1, 2 and 3-foot cut oak and hickory logs to keep the cold out. There was much suffering. So severe was the frost that the efforts of farmers to raise crops was futile. The remaining left over from the 1815 crop brought $5 a bushel. Breadstuffs were prohibitive in price.

The "cold and icy" continued more or less until September of 1816, says the diary, which also makes known that the people "imagined that the heat of the sun had become exhausted."

IDLE THOUGHTS

What to Do in Case of Drowning Accident

Dr. Fischer, of Vienna, declares that this is accomplished with hot water in which the apparently drowned person is immersed for from ten to thirty minutes. Following this immersion in the hot water, which must be as hot as can be borne by the hand, the old and ordinary methods of resuscitation are resorted to, viz., artificial respiration, or the use of the pulmotor.

Doctor Fischer says it is impossible for a person who enters the water alive. This is contradictory of the time-honored belief that the lungs of a drowned person are filled with water. Doctor Fischer says: "The water strikes the larynx and causes a spasm which closes the lungs and prevents the entrance of water for a period of nine days, until relaxation commences. Drowning, so-called, is merely suspended animation, and not death."

"To restore animation, I proceed first to thoroughly warm the body, hot water and artificial respiration, which has been chilled by submer-

THE AUDITORIUM

OWEN MOORE in "A DIVORCE OF CONVENIENCE" — SELZNICK PICTURE —

The two splendid programmes at the Auditorium were greatly appreciated by fairly large audiences. The feature on Friday and Saturday last, "The Petal on the Current," from the well-known book by Fanny Hurst, was exceptionally fine, and showed Mary McLaren, the popular Universal star, at her best.

The Century comedy, "Won by a Nose," was much enjoyed by young and old.

William Faversham, in "The Sin That Was His," featured on Monday and Tuesday, was a special feature that nobody could afford to miss. The Detective Flynn story "The Phantom Butler" was also a well-acted and interesting feature, and gives great credit to the management of the Auditorium in the selection of films.

Friday and Saturday. The programme for tomorrow is of such a calibre that it should draw large audiences. In addition to the feature "An Adventure in Hearts," there is a Carter de Haven comedy entitled "Spring." This comedy is guaranteed to make even the most pessimistic person laugh, and the chances are that the only disappointed ones will be those who miss it.

Monday and Tuesday. The programme will contain Owen Moore in "A Divorce of Convenience." Owen Moore should show at his best in this comedy as he has been through the real thing.

The Kauffman Weekly Magazine is also billed for these days, the story being "The Scarlet Letter." In addition, there will be a reel of Prisma pictures in natural colors.

Week of September 5 to 10. The week of September 5 to 10 will be a special week at the Auditorium. This is the week of the Paramount Maple Leaf Beauty Contest, and it is hoped that some of Sidney's handsome young ladies will enter the contest.

The programme for Paramount Maple Leaf week will be announced through these columns next week so look out for it.

"An Adventure in Hearts." A fine story by that master of romantic fiction, Anthony Hope, has been done into an entertaining motion picture with Robert Warwick in the role of the hero, and will be shown at the Auditorium Friday and Saturday, Aug. 19 and 20. It is called "An Adventure in Hearts," which is rather more engaging and descriptive of the content of the story than its original title, "Captain Dieppe."

As long as Anthony Hope keeps on writing and the movies continue moving, the answer to the oft-mooted question, "Is romance dead," will be "No." "An Adventure in Hearts" is the old chivalry in a new setting. Major Warwick is the picturesque adventurer who dares much for his lady's hand, though a comedy touch is inserted by the fact that the object of his secret affections is apparently the wife of the genial Italian nobleman who has afforded his protection in his castle.

Major Warwick is thoroughly at home as the twentieth century D'Aragnan. He served on Gen. Pershing's staff in France during the war and hasn't let a little thing like this get in the way of his fighting. He has had battling roles in all his post-war pictures. In this latest vehicle he escapes from confinement in a council chamber by seizing a sword, cutting the whisks off the prime minister, knocking down the guards, and springing from a window into a river, swimming to safety. Then he tweaks the "heavy's" nose in a fair lady's presence and later fights a pistol duel with him in a swollen ford in the river. And at the climax he struggles fiercely with a secret service pursuer in a blazing hut.

This sounds something like melodrama. But "An Adventure in Hearts" is far from that. It's just a day's work with these fascinating heroes whose deeds Anthony Hope chronicles. And we haven't seen a Warwick picture yet that was fractioned so adroitly to the personality of the stalwart soldier-star.

The cast supporting Major Warwick is small and excellent. Helene Chadwick, she of the delightful blonde beauty, is the leading woman, and Winifred Greenwood, Juan de la Cruz, Walter Long and Howard Gaye are also in the company. The picture is a Paramount-Artcraft production and James Cruz directed it.

Mr. A. Evans and R. N. Pitzer paid a visit to Mr. and Mrs. L. Thomson on Sunday.

FRUIT CROP OF EUROPE POOR

English and Continental Fruit Crop Conditions Reported to Be Very Poor

The following report has just been received from the Canadian Fruit Trade Commissioner in Great Britain. The rainfall during the month of June and up to the time of writing, has been practically nil, this constituting practically the longest period of unbroken drought in the history of the apple industry.

Black Currants: Much below the average.

Raspberries: A poor crop all over the country. A quarter crop in some districts.

Strawberries: No over. The late fruits failed to swell and the picking season came to an abrupt finish on account of the drought.

Plums and Pears: A failure generally.

Cherries: Variable-good in some districts and below average in others.

Apples: Apples are being severely thinned by the drought. In most cases an average amount of fruit give promise of holding on, but it will be below the average in size. Worcester, Hereford, Gloucester and western counties report average crops. Kent reports "average, but fruit dropping owing to drought."

Sweden: Apple bloom was abundant, but some frost damage. The long drought has caused a heavy drop and the crop will be somewhat below medium. Medium crop of plums and pears. Fairly heavy imports expected from Tyrol and lesser quantities from Holland.

Denmark: Small apple crop expected. Prospects should be good for trans-Atlantic apples, as the crop is small in Tyrol and medium in Switzerland, two important sources of supply.

Norway: Apple crop will be short. Norway, also, depends greatly on Tyrol and Switzerland.

France: Apple crop will be short, especially for best quality fruit.

Belgium: Good crop of apples. Fruit falling heavily on account of drought. Belgium practically bars boxed apples with prohibitive duty of 100 francs per 100 kilos on apples packed in cases of 20 kilos net (about 45 lbs.) or less. Duty on apples packed in barrels is only 5 francs per 100 kilos.

Holland: Good crop of apples. Little likelihood of demand for trans-Atlantic apples before January, 1922.
